Key points:

- Acquires the Hefei Gamma Knife Centre second purchase after the deal with Beijing Er Pao CD&T centre.
- Hefei Hospital is currently the only facility in Anhui province offering gamma knife treatment, ensuring a large catchment area
- Consideration of RMB46.2m, representing 3.9x FY12/08F P/E, was lower than expected signaling that Renji's expanding network is strengthening its bargaining power in M&A negotiations.
- Renji's medical operating network now covers China's Huadong (eastern), Huabei (northern) and Huazhong (central) regions.
- Newly appointed INED, Dr Li Yang, brings substantial experience as a member of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences (CASS) and Director General of the Institute of Finance and Banking (IFB). He is also previous member of the Monetary Policy Committee of the PBOC.
- The net profit contribution from this acquisition was in line with our expectations and we have left our FY12/08 estimate unchanged. We maintain our BUY call keeping our target price at HK$0.45, representing 35.0x FY12/08F P/E. In our view, Renji is starting to demonstrate its execution ability and the current stock price offers a good entry level.

Acquisition of Hefei gamma knife centre. Hot on the heels of its Beijing Er Pao deal, China Renji (Renji) announced the acquisition of the Hefei Gamma Knife Centre on 12 October for RMB46.2m in cash. The move involves the 100% acquisition of cancer treatment medical equipment (one set each of head gamma knife, body gamma and MRI). In return, Renji will be entitled to 80% of net profit generated by the equipment, while the remainder will go to the current management of the CD&T centre. Renji preferred this arrangement rather than an 80% stake, as it wanted to wholly own the medical equipment.

Stronger bargaining power. The existing management has guaranteed the net income attributable to Renji at no less than RMB5.0m in 2H FY12/07 and RMB12.0m in FY12/08, in line with our expectations. This represents a valuation of 3.9x FY12/08F P/E, lower than expected and a sign that the company's broadening medical network is strengthening its bargaining power in M&A negotiations. If the net income falls below the guarantee in any of the two periods, Renji will be compensated in cash equal to 6x the difference between the actual net income and guaranteed net income. As of 30 Jun 2007, the net book value of the acquired equipment was RMB31.25m, implying a acquisition P/B valuation of 1.5x.

Large catchment area. Hefei Hospital is a standalone hospital that specializes in the use of gamma knives to treat cancer/tumours. It is the only hospital in Anhui offering such services. It covers Hefei municipality and adjacent Bangpu and Chaohu cities, as well as the northern and western regions of Anhui Province. This catchment area has an estimated population of over 30m. Its management team is led by Mr. Pan Mianshun, one of China's seven prominent gamma knife treatment experts.

Nationwide network. The acquisition will broaden Renji's medical network into a nationwide platform. With its operating base in Shanghai, the company's Er Pao CD&T centre covers Huabei (northern) region, while its newly acquired Hefei CD&T centre covers Huadong (eastern) region. Meanwhile, a minority stake in a CD&T centre in Nanchang gives the company access to Huazhong (central) region.

Improved screening ability in Anhui will boost patient numbers. According to the announcement, Hefei Hospital's net profit was RMB7.6m in FY12/05A and RMB8.3m in FY12/06A. Its gamma knife equipment was used to treat 680 patients in FY12/06A and 485 in the first seven months of FY12/07A. They attributed the comparative growth in these two years to the addition of an MRI machine at the end of 2005. The MRI allowed the hospital to increase its screening capability, allowing them to capture more cancer/tumour patients. We expect this patient growth trend to continue as Anhui Provincial Hospital has also recently added a Pet-CT machine to its facilities. Renji's Hefei Gamma Knife Centre should benefit, as patients identified by Anhui Provincial Hospital will be referred to Hefei Hospital for treatment. We expect sustained demand since gamma knife treatment is covered by the social insurance scheme of Hefei city.

New INED with substantial experience and reference. Renji has announced the appointment of an Independent Non-Executive Director with substantial background in China's medical and finance industries. Dr Li Yang (aged 56), currently serves as a member of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences (CASS) and Director General of the Institute of Finance and Banking (IFB). Dr Li's other references include:

- Pluralistic Professor of Beijing University, Tsinghua University, Renmin University of China, Fudan University, Nanjing University and University of Science and Technology of China;
- Deputy President of the China Society of Finance & Banking;
- Deputy President of the China Society of Public Finance; and
- □ Previous member of the Monetary Policy Committee of the People's Bank of China.

Dr. Li replaces Raja Shahrudin on the Board. We believe this Renji's another step towards building corporate governance and credibility within the investment community after the completion of the Anping Medical acquisition in July this year.

More non-core asset disposals. Renji has completed arrangements for the disposal of China Gloria, its investment in China's lottery, for about HK$15.0m. The company will realize a gain of around HK$5.0m on the P&L. This is not a discloseable transaction and therefore no announcement will be made on HKEx.

Starting to demonstrate execution ability. With two new acquisitions after completing the Anping Medical deal and associated name change in Jul 2007, the company is beginning to demonstrate its execution ability and we expect further acquisitions by year-end.

Maintaining estimates and BUY call. The net profit contribution from Hefei Hospital is in line with our projections. We have revised our FY12/07F estimate to a net loss of HK$6.6m to take into consideration the gain on disposal of China Gloria, but left our FY12/08F estimate unchanged at HK$159.5m. We maintain our BUY call on Renji, with a target price at HK$0.45, representing 35x FY12/08F P/E.
